DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections § 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 32 and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Gross (US 5,549,584 A).

Gross teaches a method of providing treating an open wound having a wound surface located inwardly of healthy skin surrounding the open wound, the method comprising:

providing a relatively thin and flexible member (42, 44) having a wound contacting surface with holes (48) in the wound contacting surface, a port (28, 56) to be attached to a vacuum source (12) and a plurality of passageways (interstices in absorbent fabric (52)) connecting the holes (48) to the port (28, 56), and spacers (44) coupled to the wound contacting surface, positioning the member (42, 44) so that at least a portion of the member (42, 44) is inside the open wound having at least some of the spacers (44) resting against the wound surface to space the wound contacting surface of the member (42, 44) apart from the wound surface, and providing a cover (18) over the member to define a space above the wound surface in which a vacuum is formed when the port (28, 56) is connected to a vacuum source (12)(col. 4, lines 56-67; col. 6, lines 10-46; col. 7, lines 41-50)(see figures 1 & 4, infra).

It is noted that the adhesive spacer layer (44) directly contacts the wound during use.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. § 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a).

Claims 33-35, 38 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gross as applied to claims 32 and 40, above, and further in view of Olson (US 5,735,833 A).

Regarding claim 33, Olson does not disclose expressly a transparent flexible member.

Olson teaches a suction and irrigation cover (18) that is transparent so as to facilitate observation of a wound (col. 2, lines 59-67).

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to select the transparent construction of Olson to make the member of Gross in order to allow observation of a wound and or state of the absorbent material under the member (for example, to determine whether absorbent (52) of Gross should be changed).

Regarding claims 34, 35, 38 and 39, Gross does not teach the step of irrigating a wound through that device.

Olson teaches multiple irrigation ports (52, 64) that deliver irrigating fluids to a wound site (see figure 5, infra). Adding these ports on Gross' cover (18) adjacent to Gross' port (28) would result in fluid passing through holes before irrigating the wound.

Art Unit: 3761

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to add the irrigating ports and steps for irrigating a wound with the device and vacuum methods of Gross in order to provide for comprehensive treatment of a wound.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 32-35 and 38-40 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 3761

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
